Francisco Marcos

Founder and President

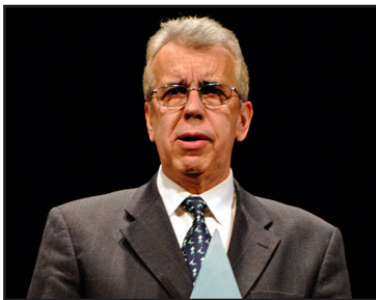

It seems that everything about Francisco Marcos' life points to building, which for those that have known him for the past 40 years or so is no surprise... after all, the first ambition he had was to be an architect. And whether it is designing, laying foundation, constructing houses or pyramids brick by brick, he is still at it.

Although he earned a scholarship to play at national powerhouse Hartwick College in upstate New York two years after arriving from his native Portugal in 1961 and finishing high school in New York city, Marcos understood very early in his playing career that his future was outside the touch lines. Despite establishing himself as a midfielder on nationally-ranked teams under coaches David Haase and Al Miller, he also served as the editor of the school newspaper, started the Empire State Soccer League, and launched the magazine Soccer Monthly, which eventually became the official magazine of the U.S. Soccer Federation. Marcos immersed himself in the avenue of soccer marketing, immediately establishing himself as a pioneer of the game in the United States.

Following graduation in 1968, Marcos wasted no time laying the foundation for his future accomplishments. He accompanied Hartwick's team on a European tour where he gathered a network of international soccer contacts that would serve him throughout his career marketing the game in North America.

The idea of taking American teams to Europe evolved into a full-time business for the young entrepreneur, who founded American International Sports Exchange, the first American company to develop soccer tours for teams in the United States. Through the company, Marcos met many prominent college and professional coaches. He demonstrated his ability to seek out talent and organize top-level sides. He was directly responsible for recruiting the foreign contingency that became the Philadelphia Atoms North American Soccer League Championship team of 1973, the inaugural season of the league. His nose for the game was recognized by the 'brass' of the Tampa Bay Rowdies and in 1974 Marcos landed in Florida.

Marcos' title with Tampa Bay was Director of Public Relations and Director of Soccer Operations and Development. He and the Rowdies led a Tampa edition of a nationwide movement to teach Americans soccer. The marketing project forged by the Rowdies took off with the signing of Pele by the New York Cosmos. The Rowdies eventually averaged 33,000 per game in small market Tampa while their late-blooming rival Cosmos regularly sold out the largest existing venues from '75 through '83. When the two sides faced off, the foundation of professional soccer in the United States was being poured.

Marcos, the recipient of the 2007 US Soccer Werner Fricker Builder Award, has been the founder and President of USL since 1986. The award is the most prestigious recognition bestowed by US Soccer upon its members. It is presented annually to an individual who has worked tirelessly in furthering the interest of the sport without regard to personal recognition or advancement.

"There are moments, events, people and places throughout the history of sports that made the day," said Marcos. "Eventually they will talk about the day the Tampa Bay Rowdies played the New York Cosmos in 1977 and 63,000 people showed up. They had to delay the game 30 minutes because everything was so bottled up. The next morning Howard Cosell, was going on about soccer, calling it, 'What will eventually become the biggest league of all.'"

Marcos shifted to the NASL's Dallas Tornado in '79, where he served as Vice President of player personnel, joining his mentor and former coach Al Miller as he became the first person to hold such a position. In 1980 he forcefully of his now Tampa-based United Soccer Leagues. USL began as an indoor league in the southwestern United States, slowly growing from an original five in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. Through over 20 years of acquisitions and development, Marcos' USL has developed into a pyramid of six leagues comprised of over 115 senior clubs and upwards of 750 youth teams in the US, Canada and beyond.

"Soccer was going to be it for me," said Marcos. "I believed my passion for the game was enough to propel me and my league. Fortunately, that passion has not quit."

Marcos' passion was obviously more than enough. His SISL expanded every season in the eighties. In 1989 the SISL modified its name to the stirring of an outdoor game revitalized by the announcement of an American World Cup. Under their new moniker, the league blanketed the Sunbelt, changing again to the USISL in 1992.

"When it was decided by FIFA in '88 or '89 that the World Cup was to go to come to the U.S. in '94 - then I knew that something was about to happen," said Marcos. "I knew that it was worthwhile to go through the first three or four years of absolute insanity, trying to keep this thing alive. The outdoor game was going to return."

"If there was an absolute and ultimate goal - it was simply for soccer to be a big thing in the United States," added Marcos. "I wanted soccer to become a well respected sport in America, for it to be a proper enterprise, to be something people could feel passionate about, as passionate I felt about the sport and my club, Sporting, back in Portugal. I wanted people in this country to feel for soccer the way they used to feel about old baseball teams - the Brooklyn Dodgers, the New York Giants or the Yankees."

There's a way to go yet, but he is still here mixing the cement.

Born in Portugal, Marcos is fluent in five languages. He is a fanatical fan and has the tickets to prove it. He has attended ten consecutive World Cups since 1970 either as a fan, journalist, or part of a delegation. In 1994, he served as FIFA's team liaison for Brazil. He was also head of delegations for U.S. National Teams at the 1999 U20 FIFA World Championships in Nigeria, Argentina in 2001, and Holland in 2005. Recognized as one of the key executives in the game, he ignited a third soccer community in the Calgary Boomers, tying himself to his third successful NASL franchise before returning to Tampa Bay in '81 to become Executive Vice President of the Rowdies.

The demise of the NASL in 1984 encouraged Marcos' greatest soccer vision - a group of national leagues blanketing the United States. His life's endeavor took off in 1986 with the birth serves on the board of directors of US Soccer, the US Soccer Foundation, the NSCAA, the US Soccer Governing task force, and in '05 was recognized with a letter of commendation by the NSCAA. He was inducted into Hartwick College's Hall of Fame in 2001. He now splits his time between the USA and Portugal, where his family - wife Beverly, and children Julian and Amy - reside. They often enjoy matches featuring Sporting as seen pictured.

In Search of Authenticity

It seems like only last year that I was writing in this page right here about chapels, churches and cathedrals. You know, my theory that if we were going to become a religion, sooner or later we needed our own places of worship - or we would never be authentic.

In actual fact, those words were from almost a decade ago, and a good portion of the new millennium has indeed been spent in a still endless building frenzy of soccer stadia. MLS, USL, colleges and municipalities, 24-field complexes, live-in academies - you name it, we have got it coming. By the time the World Cup comes in 2018 or 2022, which you can bet on, America will have such a plethora of big time stadia (thanks in part to football/soccer-specific facilities) that the rest of world will simply shake its head in amazement.

The world will, however, still ask: but are they authentic?

Good question; no easy answer. Over the years I have equally preached that if an American student wants to learn a foreign language, he can go to any of the hundreds of fine American universities and will indeed come out with a degree that will certify them as fluent, in reading, writing and oratory. But will they sound like a native? Will they be authentic? Does it matter?

Well, if you're one of those individuals that used to believe the world began at the Statue of Liberty and ended at the Golden Gate Bridge, probably not. After all, I remember going to a McGuire Cup final four in the mid seventies in Omaha, where I sat next to a jovial Cornhusker. Eventually the conversation got around to the world, and try as I might, I could not convince my fellow traveler that learning a foreign language was important. To him, it just did not seem to make a lot of sense when his five borders were Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Utah, and so on.

We have come a long way in North American soccer. USL is extremely proud of our own contribution, and yet I fully acknowledge how far we all have to go.

In actuality though, I believe the distance is not that far. Imagine we are mountain climbers, Everest is the goal, and we are at the last station before the peak. Many others have been where we now sit, and most are still waiting - in fact they may never get to the summit. And many of those nations are authentic. Two hundred plus nations play soccer; only SEVEN have won the World Cup - all authentic.

I submit that having built all the temples of worship, we now need to spread North America's players, coaches, referees and administrators around the authentic soccer world. They need to feel the heat, feel the pressure - that lose three games and you're out kind of pressure. The American soccer world is still too nice, too recreational.

Elsewhere in this publication you can read about USL's efforts to bring together clubs from abroad and USL clubs in real partnerships featuring player exchanges, training, best practices - actual investments by foreign clubs in our clubs, whatever bit it will take for us to become more like them.

So, whether it be a sabbatical, a junior year abroad playing, a real job coaching or selling soccer the American way, the next decade needs to focus on making American soccer authentic. Wednesday night fever in Europe or South America is pretty real - it's not an illness, it is passion. Each of you needs to identify your own path. Authenticity goes through there.

Utilizing four major hubs in the United States, England, Brazil and the Far East (Hong Kong), the company is structured as a multi-national organization, a key to making an impact on a truly international sport.

Umbro's knowledge of what it takes to play soccer, along with its long association with the world's best players, has positively influenced the company's ability to produce high-performance soccer products.

Well-positioned as a technological leader, Umbro has also been highly successful in spearheading soccer performance fabrics for match play and training sessions. Umbro uniforms are built with superior moisture transportation qualities, making them equally comfortable in autumn weather, when most of the world plays soccer, to the hot, humid environments that surround the World Cup.

Umbro was the first company to take fabric made from recycled materials and put it on the professional playing field.

The name Umbro is derived from the original name of the business - Humphreys Brothers. In 1924, Harold and Wallace Humphreys started their company with $50 in capital, two sewing machines, a slot-knife cutter and a delivery motorcycle.

Umbro reaffirmed its commitment to United Soccer Leagues in 2006 when it announced Umbro International, Ltd. had purchased an additional 30 percent of USISL, Inc. stock.

Umbro was acquired by Nike at the beginning of 2008. Nike will maintain Umbro as its own unique identity and brand as it has done with other subsidiaries such as Converse, Cole Haan and Hurley.

USL International Development

2009 to bring more foreign club affiliations

USL is the cross-roads when it comes to an international influence of players, clubs, and executives in North America. Given the organization's unique landscape of clubs from youth to professional, USL provides opportunities for foreign clubs to develop affiliations and partnerships with its franchises.

Identifying talented players and creating new commercial opportunities is a priority for clubs around the world. USL can provide the best platform to connect these opportunities with clubs that desire to have a presence in North America.

In 2008, USL embarked on an international development initiative to connect USL clubs with foreign clubs. As part of the initiative, USL partnered with Beswicks Sports, the specialist sports division of the UK based legal group, Beswicks. Beswicks Sports have been appointed as the USL's representative in the UK to broker and advise on partnership deals between UK football clubs and USL franchises.

Beswicks Sports formalized an affiliation between English Premier League club, Stoke City FC, and the USL First Division's Austin Aztex. The affiliation entails a number of initiatives including Head Coach, Adrian Heath, providing player identification oversight in North America. The Aztex have also formalized a relationship with Mexican club, Club de Fútbol Monterrey.

In addition, Beswicks facilitated former West Ham United player, Anthony Hudson, with the coaching helm at Real Maryland FC of the USL Second Division for the 2009 season. In 2009, USL and Beswicks expect to have other clubs follow suit and develop formal relationships with USL franchises throughout North America.

Crystal Palace FC also continues to own and operate a USL Second Division franchise. The club's second season saw them perform well, while also going on an impressive US Open Cup run that saw them upset the New York Red Bulls of Major League Soccer 2-0. Palace faced holders the New England Revolution in New Britain, Connecticut for a place in the semifinals and managed to hold them to a draw, another amazing feat, before being cruelly downed on penalties by the Revolution. Palace finished fourth in the league campaign.

At the youth level, a group of talented young Super Y-League players will spend time training at West Ham United's youth academy. Under the guidance of West Ham's Academy Director, Tony Carr, players will join one of Europe's leading youth academies this season. From last year's visit to West Ham United, USL Super Y-League goalkeeper, Cody Cropper has been sought after by several English clubs. He has now signed with the US U17 Men's National Team Residency Program in Bradenton, FL.

The global game is increasingly shrinking as technology connects the furthest corners of the planet to one another, increasing player and coaching opportunities as well as additional venues for brand awareness. USL is in a unique position to provide beneficial partnerships at numerous levels and is striving to expand its leading domestic development programs into an international role.

2008 Season in Review

A season of recovery, international success

The 2008 USL First Division season may go down as the most amazing campaign in league history. Several clubs rose from the bottom of the table midseason to make the playoffs and others successfully balanced multiple competitions with great success.

In the end, it was the top two seeds in the championship game. But in the beginning it was two completely different stories and expectations. The Puerto Rico Islanders opened the campaign with just one win in their first seven games (1-3-3) while the Vancouver Whitecaps were off to a slow start that relied heavily on defense as they went on to a 7-2-1 mark on the strength of just 10 goals.

Their paths went in different directions in regards to the non-league theme of the year which saw tremendous success for the league in the US Open Cup and CONCACAF-related competitions. Vancouver lost out on the bid for the Canadian Championship and a spot in the Champions League with a pair of defeats by Montreal while Puerto Rico won their Caribbean qualifier to join the Impact in the Champions League.

While Vancouver, who experienced a brief downturn in fortunes midseason, went on to a steady campaign that would finish one point shy of the regular season title, the Islanders would make an astonishing run up from the bottom of the table.

Facing a daunting series of six road games, the Islanders rebounded from a 1-0 loss in Miami to run off five straight victories, outscoring the opposition 11-3, in the rest of the away stretch. Their return home perhaps spoiled the effort, falling 2-1 to the defending champion Seattle, but they would close out the campaign unbeaten in the final 12 matches (6-0-6), including a mark of 2-0-4 on the road.

The Islanders run to finish out the season was exponentially impressive considering they also squeezed in three wins and two draws in Champions League Preliminary Round and Group Phase matches into the mix for an astonishing 17-game unbeaten run in all competitions.

Puerto Rico was not the only team to show great strength in recovering from a bad start. The Rochester Rhinos and Montreal Impact also made similar climbs from the bottom of the table. After a 0-4-3 start, the Rhinos began a steady climb under first-year

Jonathan Steele

Steele was honored as the

coach Darren Tilley to finish fourth on the year. Montreal was at the bottom of the table with a record of 2-6-2 when John Limniatis was installed in a coaching change.

Limniatis immediately began to make a difference, guiding the club to the Canadian Championship and posting a mark of 10-6-4 to reach third in the league table. Like Puerto Rico, the team's rise to the top portion of the standings was accompanied by an incredible unbeaten run in the Champions League as they went 4-0-2 in the Preliminary Round and Group Phase.

While Montreal and Puerto Rico were making headlines in the Champions League, the American USL sides were following suit in the US Open Cup with Seattle and Charleston marking only the second time two semifinalists hailed from USL in a single year since MLS started in 1996. The Battery eliminated Seattle in the final four to become the third USL team to have a shot at the title in the MLS era, only to see their hopes dash in a thrilling 2-1 road loss to DC United.

Although the Quarterfinals and Semifinals went according to the seedings on paper, the playoff rounds were anything but ordinary as the home teams went unbeaten in all 10 games, forcing several higher seeds to come from behind to advance.

In the end though, it was a rare meeting of the top two seeds, and as may have been expected given the top two defenses were also facing one another, the final proved to be a tight affair. The difference, however, would be midseason trade acquisition Charles Gbeke as he scored two goals on corner kicks to lead the home side to victory 2-1. Sandy Gbandi scored the loan goal for Puerto Rico to equalize, but it was not enough for the regular season champions as Gbeke scored his second of the half for the win, giving Vancouver, under new coach Teitur Thordarson, its second championship in three years.

2008 Championship Review

The final day of June may have been the most important day of the season in contributing to the second championship in three years for the Vancouver Whitecaps in the final day of the USL First Division season Sunday as Charles Gbeke, who was acquired in a trade that day, scored both goals in the club's 2-1 victory over the Puerto Rico Islanders.

Both clubs had chances as they probed for an opening tally in the first half, but the game would go to the break scoreless. Eleven minutes into the second frame, however, Gbeke would rise above the crowd for his first.

Alfredo Valente drove a low corner into the box in the 56th minute that forced Jeff Clarke to lower his head on the near side, popping the ball up into the air to the far post, where Gbeke rose above his marker Cristian Arrieta to head the winner into the far side netting.

A match-up of the league's top two defensive squads made minimized the number of quality scoring chances, but the Islanders would find the equalizer just moments after Vancouver had a great chance to go up two.

The Vancouver chance to double the lead came in the 68th when Martin Nash sent a ball across the field and deep to Valente on left flank. He drove further up the field before giving it to Steve Kindel, who crossed it into the box, where the wide open 17-year old Ethan Gage tried to one-time it on frame from 14 yards only to see it fly wide.

A minute later at the other end the Islanders leveled the game courtesy of Sandy Gbandi. Well up the field on the left flank, defender Scott Jones sent it inward five yards to captain Noah Delgado, who sent a cross into the box where several Puerto Rico players awaited the chance. Gbandi headed in the equalizer to the side netting from eight yards out in the center of the box.

The tie would only last four minutes for Puerto Rico though.

Gbeke again put the Whitecaps on top with another header. Nash sent a throw-in from deep on the right side to the top corner of the penalty area, where Justin Moose took and drove along the edge of the box toward the end line before sending a cross into the six. Gbeke rose out of the crowd for the 73rd minute tally that held on as the winner and earned the Ivory Coast native the USL-1 Championship MVP honor.

Having previously been on the wrong side of Vancouver's first championship as a member of the Rochester Rhinos, who fell 3-0 at home two years ago in the final, Gbeke was the Montreal Impact's leading scorer in 2007 with 10 strikes. But with only one goal through 12 games in 2008, the Impact sent him to Vancouver for his fourth stint with the club in his career in exchange for Tony Donatelli, who had scored in the championship for Vancouver two years ago.

The Whitecaps championship helped negate the nation's sour news from the day before when the Canadian national team was eliminated from contention in FIFA World Cup Qualifying as they lost 3-1 in Honduras in the semifinal stage of CONCACAF qualifying. Vancouver joins the Seattle Sounders, Rochester Rhinos, Montreal Impact, Milwaukee Rampage and Colorado Foxes as teams who have won the league title two or more times.

The victory capped a wonderful season that saw numerous USL First Division clubs post successful seasons, giving the Whitecaps a secondary claim as Canada's top club despite previously finishing third in the Nutrilite Canadian Championship following a win and draw against Major League Soccer's Toronto FC. A pair of losses to Montreal, combined with the Impact's loss and draw against Toronto saw their USL-1 rivals go through to the CONCACAF Champions League, where the Impact are only one point away from a shocking advancement from the group stage to the quarterfinals.

The Canadian sides and Islanders were not the only clubs on the year to find success on the year though as the USL First Division firmly planted a claim as one of CONCACAF's top four or five leagues along with the Mexican first division, Major League Soccer and the Costa Rican top flight.

Austin's USL First Division franchise is held by Austin Football Holdings LLC, (AFH) under the ownership of British-born entrepreneur Phil Rawlins. An Austin resident, Rawlins is also an owner and director of Stoke City F.C., which plays in the English Premier League. He has had an ownership interest in Stoke City for more than eight years and brings a wealth of management experience in soccer operations.

With Rawlins' relationship, the Austin Aztex FC has formed an official affiliation with Stoke City, which includes the English club holding its summer training camp in Austin, scouting for talent both locally and across the United States, exchanging players with the Aztex and sharing best practices between the two clubs.

"I am delighted to have the opportunity to bring a top-class professional soccer franchise to Austin," Rawlins said. "Central Texas has long been a hotbed of young soccer talent with more than 35,000 kids playing the game locally. Our club gives these youngsters and talented players throughout Texas something to aim for and the chance to play soccer at the very highest level. I am very excited about the agreement with Stoke and the European exposure that gives both the Aztex and our players. My goal is to make the Aztex a community-based club that the Austin area can be proud of."

"Working with someone that we know and respect like Phil Rawlins, in a booming soccer marketplace like the States, made our official affiliation an easy decision for Stoke City," said Stoke City Chief Executive Tony Scholes. "We feel certain the Aztex will be a major success both in Austin and nationally."

In December 2008, the Aztex announced a similar partnership with Club de Futbol Monterrey, the Rayados, which plays in the Mexican Primera Division.

After making the playoffs in their inaugural season in 2007, it looked as though the RailHawks were destined for a fantastic sophomore campaign as the club opened the season with no defeats in their first seven games. The four draws in that span, however, did them no favors as the team struggled to find victories throughout the middle stretch of the season, beginning with four losses in their next five games after the 3-0-4 start.

In fact, Carolina would not find its fifth victory of the season until match number 21 on August 15. The win brought to an end a 0-5-4 winless run, but the 5-2-1 effort down the final stretch came up two points shy of Minnesota, who claimed the seventh and final playoff berth. In the midst of the team's turn in form in league play, the RailHawks posted 1-0 victories over the 2007 PDL semifinalist Brooklyn Knights and the USL-2 Real Maryland Monarchs in the US Open Cup, bringing Major League Soccer's Kansas City Wizards to Cary for the Third Round. Carolina was unable to record an upset two consecutive years, falling to Kansas City 4-2 on the night.

2008 RESULTS

It was a tale of split personality for the Battery in 2008. A front-loaded home schedule helped get Charleston off to a fantastic start in league play with a 5-1-2 opening to the campaign. But a heavy road schedule and a US Open Cup run in the latter half of the year made the going rough. Having secured a good hold in the table though, the Battery took advantage of their opportunity to make another historic run in the US Open Cup, sliding by the defending MLS Cup Champion Houston Dynamo on penalties (4-3) after a 1-1 draw and then a week later stunning FC Dallas with a 3-1 victory on the road in the Quarterfinals, sending the Battery to the Semifinals for the second time in four years and making the club the first USL team to do so three times. The Cup run and road schedule took its toll though on the regular season efforts as the club stumbled through the final weeks of the campaign, posting just one victory in the final third of the season. It did not matter, however, as they squared off against league foe Seattle in the final four and advanced yet again on penalties 4-3 after a 1-1 draw to reach the final for the first time. With just two weeks left in the season, all focus shifted to their September 3 showdown with DC United in the nation's capital. It was a tight contest that saw the Battery challenge valiantly before falling 2-1. The same scoreline would mark their fate in the postseason as Rochester held their 2-0 home lead in Charleston for a 2-1 series victory in the First Round.

Improving on a one-loss inaugural season was an impossible task for the City Stars in their second campaign. But suffering just three defeats was not much of a step backwards. Cleveland was a consistent contender for the regular season title throughout the season, but seven draws left them seven points short for the top playoff seed. In the midst of the season, Cleveland also made a brief run in the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup, winning on the road against the two-time finalist and 2006 PDL Champion Michigan Bucks.

The road success continued with an upset victory over the USL First Division Minnesota Thunder two weeks later. In the end, the Chicago Fire of Major League Soccer proved too difficult a task to handle away from home in the Third Round. The experience, however, may have proven critical in the postseason as Cleveland dispatched of Western Mass 4-2 in the opener and then won 1-0 at second-seeded Richmond three nights later in the Semifinals to reach the championship game. The City Stars played host to the regular season champion Charlotte Eagles and took advantage with two first half goals that withstood a rally to give the club a title just two years into existence. Promoted to the USL First Division in just their third season, Cleveland will again be looking to improve on the previous year's performance in 2009. Armed with a new stadium and a new coach, the growing contingent of bold City Stars supporters seen below are set to see their home side carve a niche in their new league, again.

With the retirement of World Cup star Zinho, the Blues were searching for a new identity on the field with the Brazilian star now serving as head coach. The loss of his presence on the field proved difficult to overcome in the early going as the club dropped six of its first nine games of the campaign, leaving them in a huge hole. The Blues rebounded with a midseason unbeaten run of nine games, but with six of them finishing in draws, the gap in points for a playoff spot continued to loom large and force near perfection.

Heading into the final third of the season, the defense gave the team hope, running off six consecutive shutouts and going on to post seven more. Miami, however, was unable to hold that form consistently throughout the final two months as the opposition applied the pressure in a heated race for the final playoff spots. They would finish ninth, five points back of Minnesota for the final berth.

In the midst of a three-year playoff absence, the Thunder's hunger to return to the postseason was evident in their quick 5-1-1 start to the season. The plan began to unravel, however, after a heartbreaking 2-0 upset loss at home in the Second Round of the US Open Cup to the eventual USL-2 champion Cleveland City Stars. Minnesota dropped three straight in a stretch that saw just one victory in eight games. The heartbreak turned back to hunger in early August though as home victories over the two Open Cup semifinalists Charleston and Seattle helped spur a 5-2-4 finish to the season to grab the final playoff berth over Carolina by two points. Despite earning a scoreless draw in Vancouver three weeks before, the Thunder were unable to repeat the feat and went home for the second leg down by two goals. The lead reached three twice in the second leg and when Vancouver expanded it to four, it looked bleak. But Minnesota would roll off three unanswered to pull back within one goal of extending the series into overtime only to hear the final whistle cut the comeback short.

A perennial contender for the regular season title, the opening of the 2008 season was atypical of the Impact and no one expected the twist the season would take after a 2-6-2 league start and a loss in their Canadian Championship opener. On June 10, former Impact midfielder John Limniatis was introduced as the new coach and everything from that point seemingly turned to gold. They immediately ran off four straight victories, two in league play and two over Vancouver in the Canadian Championship. While the hot run cooled a bit midseason, a 1-1 draw against Toronto in the final Canadian Championship match sent the Impact into the CONCACAF Champions League, creating a busy, but exciting finish to the season.

Montreal ran off eight straight unbeaten (6-0-2) in the two competitions as they advanced past Nicaraguan champion Real Esteli in the Preliminary Round and climbed into the top half of the USL-1 playoff bracket. Champions League success continued with a win over Joe Public followed by a draw against Atlante on the eve of the postseason, which saw the Impact advance past the defending champion Sounders 4-3 on aggregate. Then they won in Honduras against Olimpia before being edged 2-1 by eventual USL-1 champion Vancouver in the semifinals. With the USL-1 season complete, Montreal continued its CONCACAF success with another win over Joe Public and became the first team to advance to the quarterfinals with a draw against Olimpia.

With just five losses the previous year and a seven-game unbeaten streak (3-0-4) to open the 2008 campaign, nobody would have expected the season to unfold as it did the rest of the way. The Timbers would find themselves hard-fought to earn points over the course of the season as the opening run gave way to a 2-7-2 run over the next 11 matches.

2008 RESULTS

Things started to peak at the end of July as the club rattled off two wins and three draws during a five-game stretch through August. But missing out on points over the final four matches of the season, the Timbers missed the postseason for just the third time since joining United Soccer Leagues in 2001.

Despite not capturing a playoff berth, the Timbers set new modern-franchise attendance records, drawing 128,509 fans through 15 regular-season matches at PGE Park – eclipsing the 100,000 mark for the first time since 2001.

Perhaps a bit distracted by their upcoming qualifier for the CONCACAF Champions League, the Islanders came out flat for the USL-1 season with three losses in the first four. But after claiming their berth in the regional championship, the Islanders went on to record one of the most impressive USL-1 seasons in league history with only three more defeats the rest of the way. After suffering their fifth defeat July 4 on the road, the Islanders kicked into another gear, rattling off five straight road wins and finishing the season on a 11-1-6 run.

By the time the Champions League Preliminary Round against Costa Rican powerhouse Alajuelense came about, the Islanders were on a six-game unbeaten run. They first earned a draw at home and a shocking win in Costa Rica to advance to the group stage, where they downed Tauro of Panama and Mexico's Santos Laguna in the next two matches followed by a draw on the road against Guatemala's Municipal to stretch their two-competition unbeaten run to 17 games.

That run ended after their bye to the semifinals with a leg one 2-0 loss in Rochester. The deficit would be erased in the first half of the second leg, but the Islanders would need series overtime to slip by the Rhinos. The Whitecaps, who had finished one point shy of Puerto Rico in the chase for the regular season champion Commissioner's Cup, created a share of the USL-1 trophies with a 2-1 victory in the final, but the Islanders season was not quite over. Needing a favorable result to qualify after suffering a defeat to Santos and Municipal, Puerto Rico drew against Tauro in their final group game to advance to the Champions League Quarterfinals.

A late offseason change in ownership led to a rushed start to the campaign that may have contributed to a rough 0-4-3 start to the season, six of which were on the road, including the first five. But once the calendar switched to June, the summer seemed to suit the Rhinos well as they suffered just one loss over the next two months. The good form hit a speed bump in August though as they dropped three of four at the beginning of their final 11 matches. But the hiccup gave way to a four game win streak that kept the Rhinos in the thick of the playoff chase and ultimately kept their perfect postseason attendance intact. The Rhinos opened the playoffs with a two goal lead over the Battery at home and used the advantage to earn the 2-1 series aggregate victory and a 10th semifinal appearance. Rochester again opened the series at home with a two-goal advantage, but the seemingly unstoppable Puerto Rico Islanders were just that as they rallied at home to erase the deficit and force series overtime, where they scored the winner and advanced to the final.

The 2008 season was presumed to be a rebuilding year for the 2006 champions, who installed Teitur Thordarson as the club's Head Coach on December 11, 2007. The new general and his Whitecaps had other plans though, as was evident by their 7-2-1 start to the season that kept Vancouver at or near the top of the table throughout the campaign.

The Canadian Championship threw a midseason wrinkle into the club's form though as they suffered two league losses surrounding the four tournament matches. Once they passed, the outstanding form returned again as they went the final half of the season with only three more defeats to their record and finishing just one point back of the regular season champion Puerto Rico Islanders. Having missed out on the first round bye, Vancouver dispatched of the Thunder, despite a late scare, by going up two goals at home and extending the lead in Minnesota that proved too much for the seventh-seed. Then Vancouver had to face Montreal yet again in the semifinals after having nearly swept the league series (2-0-1) and lost both Canadian championship matches. The tournament contests proved the aberration as Vancouver rallied from a 1-0 road deficit to down the Impact 2-1 on aggregate to advance to their second final in three years. A back-and-forth second half saw a scoreless championship game finish 2-1 in favor of the Whitecaps on a pair of Charles Gbeke goals.

2010 USL-1 Expansion

ROWDIES TO RETURN TO USL FIRST DIVISION

New owners announced a throwback to earlier times with the return of the Tampa Bay Rowdies soccer team to the USL First Division.

"We will compete and take a serious approach to building a team that the community can be a part of and feel proud of," said Rowdies President and CEO Andrew Nestor to a crowd of supporters and former Rowdies from as far back as the 1975 team at a press conference, which also featured fellow owners David Laxer, Hinds Howard and Gerald Trimble. "We believe the Tampa Bay area has matured into a viable and enthusiastic market for professional sports. Our goal will be to honor the success and tradition of the Tampa Bay Rowdies, while creating a fun, exciting soccer atmosphere for a new generation of families, players and fans, both on the field and through our community and youth development initiatives."

The Tampa Bay Rowdies will field its first team in 2010 in the USL First Division, the top flight of United Soccer Leagues. Plans for 2009 include hosting exhibition matches, hiring staff and signing players and starting the Tampa Bay Rowdies Youth Academy. USL Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer Tim Holt says the team will bring good things to the community, fans and youth who have grown up as the game has matured.

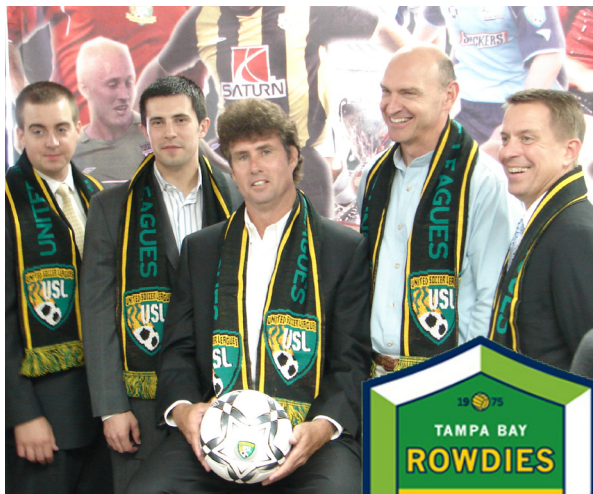

"Soccer is a family-friendly sport and the plans of this group are impressive. We think the time is right and the ownership is committed to bringing a quality product to the USL family," said Holt. "We have long wanted to have a USL-1 franchise in our home town and have been very particular with any potential ownership scenarios over the years before the current group came to the forefront just over a year ago. Their stature and plans for building a full soccer club and a privately financed stadium will take Tampa soccer to new heights in North American soccer."

The club has named Perry Van Der Beck as its technical director and director of community development. Van Der Beck is a well-known former Rowdie with strong local youth soccer ties. He was the first Rowdie ever drafted out of high school and was captain of the 1980 US Olympic team. Van Der Beck later coached the Tampa Bay Mutiny and has coached numerous youth teams as a Tampa resident.

"The ownership group is serious about the game and have a wonderful respect for the traditions that were established here in the 70's. I am proud and happy to be a part of it all, especially with so much local support and expertise," said Van Der Beck.

"We are really interested in connecting with former Rowdies, Loudies, and Fannies," said David Laxer, who grew up as a young player at Campkickinthegrass and was an original season ticket holder along with his family. "We are hoping they'll find us online so they can become a part of our now larger family."

After the North American Soccer League (NASL) disbanded in the mid-1980s, the Tampa Bay Rowdies were among the teams that helped give birth to what is now the USL First Division. The Rowdies were founding members of the eastern-based American Soccer League, formed in 1988. The league later merged with the Western Soccer League (born in 1986) to form the American Professional Soccer League (APSL). The APSL donned the abbreviated "A-League" name and in 1997 merged into what is now United Soccer Leagues, the system of soccer leagues founded and headed by USL founder Francisco Marcos, a public relations executive with the original NASL Rowdies and several other NASL clubs. The A-League was renamed to USL First Division in 2005. The Rowdies last played in what is now the USL from 1988-93 and made four playoff appearances in six seasons. The Rowdies won the division title in 1989 and reached the APSL Championship Game in 1992.

"I am thrilled to see everything come full circle," said Marcos. "The Rowdies have been in my blood since my early years in Tampa, which was among the reasons I moved the USL headquarters here from Dallas in 1996. It is perhaps fate that my former team is returning to the USL First Division – after so many years – in a time in which the sport in this country is experiencing a level of success it has not seen since the peak of the NASL. The league itself has advanced greatly from what it was during the late eighties and early nineties when there were a handful of teams trying to keep the sport going at the professional level despite the difficulties. They represent one of many teams and numerous owners who have played a part in getting the sport to this point, and that is why this is such a triumphant return."

USL SECOND DIVISION

2008 Season in Review

An establishment is forged

The success of the two expansion sides Cleveland and Baltimore in 2007 were followed up in 2008, creating a firm establishment of five clubs along with Charlotte, Richmond and Harrisburg as the elite of the USL Second Division.

The gap between the top five doubled from five points the previous campaign to 11 in 2008. The competition within the quintet that saw the top three finish within three points of one another a year before experienced a different dynamic with the Charlotte Eagles and Richmond Kickers running clearly in front of the pack most of the year.

Richmond, who had edged out Cleveland for first by two points in 2007, were unable to retain the regular season title based on the head-to-head series loss (2-1-0) to Charlotte as the two sides finished with the same point total of 44 despite Richmond having more wins at 14-4-2 to Charlotte's 13-2-5.

Just as in 2007, the third through fifth positions were separated by only six points with Cleveland taking third over Crystal Palace and the defending league champion Harrisburg City Islanders, who were fifth. Western Mass again finished sixth.

Cleveland dropped the Pioneers 4-2 in the First Round while Crystal Palace slid by Harrisburg in penalties 7-6 after a 2-2 draw. In the USL-2 Semifinals, Richmond would fall to Cleveland 1-0 in overtime on a strike from former Charlotte Eagle Adam Ruud as Charlotte rallied from a fifth minute deficit to top Palace 2-1 to return to the final for the fourth time in five years after missing out in 2007.

With trips back to Africa slated for both Sallieu Bundu and Musa Otieno of Cleveland, it could have been easy for the pair to be distracted Saturday night at Krenzler Stadium. Instead, the duo played pivotal roles in the second-year City Stars winning the USL Second Division Championship 2-1 against the two-time champion Charlotte Eagles.

The opening goal came by unusual circumstances 15 minutes in for the hosts. Mark Schulte sent a long throw-in inside the box, finding Musa Otieno eight yards from goal. Otieno just missed connecting with a header, but his large frame left Charlotte defender Steve Shak screened from seeing the well-paced ball as it deflected off the defenseless veteran and found its way into the back of the net for an own goal.

A brilliant play by Cleveland's Sallieu Bundu in the 39th proved the difference in the game. The Sierra Leone international stole the ball from a Charlotte defender on the left flank and sped his way into the box before firing a rocket past another Charlotte back and goalkeeper Kevin Trapp from a narrow angle into the far side netting.

Dustin Swinehart had two consecutive chances that stemmed from a corner kick. The corner dropped into the box and found its way to the league MVP, who took a quick shot on goal that was cleared off the line by Godfrey Tenoff. In the scramble to clear, the ball immediately found its way back into the box, but Swinehart's header flew just wide of the post. Swinehart had finished the season with a comfortable margin in the points and goals tables for the league's top honors.

Dan Harvey was inserted late and it paid immediate dividends for Charlotte. Swinehart dropped it to Gustavo Bentos, who's shot was deflected to the flank where Harvey would cross it back into the box. Joseph Kabwe was in the right place to put the ball away in the 87th to give the Eagles hope for the few remaining minutes.

The reigning two-time USL Second Division Defender of the Year Mark Schulte was honored as the Championship MVP for his efforts in shutting down Swinehart for the majority of the match en route to the victory.

Dustin Swinehart

Swinehart, a long-time USL veteran, was honored as the USL Second Division 2008 Most Valuable Player after finishing as the scoring champion

USL Player Showcase

2008 USL Men's Player Showcase presented by UMBRO

Five years ago Nicki Paterson was in Scotland, thousands of miles away from Charleston, South Carolina or Las Vegas, Nevada and most of all Des Moines, Iowa. But one story in the millions that revolve around the ever-changing face of soccer development in North America is Paterson's tale. It is one that will hopefully take on a professional feel following this week's USL Men's Player Showcase – a feeling Paterson has grown accustomed to, playing the last two seasons with the Des Moines Menace in USL's Premier Development League.

"They [Des Moines] really treat you like a professional," said Paterson. "They look after you, take good care of you and treat you like a professional soccer player. The games have the feel of a professional match."

"In Scotland, I played in front of a few big crowds," added Paterson. "But the Menace draws about three or four thousand each home game. They do a good job in the community, getting kids out to the matches and it makes it far more difficult on your opponent to come into your stadium and win. It is an exciting place to play and it adds to the professionalism of the club."

In return, Patterson netted 15 goals and added seven assists for the Menace in two years (28 games) of work. But as Patterson has discovered, playing in the PDL offers more to a player's career than a jump-start to each collegiate season.

"After my first two seasons at University of Nevada, Las Vegas, a friend of mine had a contact who knew Casey Mann in Des Moines," said Paterson. "I went to play for him in Des Moines and I had such a great time that I came back again this season."

Charleston again played host to the third annual USL Men's Player Showcase presented by UMBRO.

"Casey is such a great coach and I enjoyed playing in the PDL," added Paterson. "All the top guys from college come together and you have to mold into one very quickly. The schedule is really game-heavy with tough competition every week."

An added bonus to PDL players is the opportunity to showcase their talents to professional coaches at the annual USL Men's Player Showcase presented by UMBRO.

"The combine has been absolutely amazing," said Paterson. "The level of play is high. You can see there are a lot of really good players here. I also like playing with a bunch of guys who you didn't know before and kind of gelling as a team on the fly. Our team has been successful. We are 2-0 now and I think the reason for that is because from the very beginning we decided to work together as a team. Everyone is trying to get noticed here, but when you work as a team the individual gets the opportunity to stand out."

"I would certainly recommend this event to one of my younger teammates at UNLV," added Paterson. "There are so many coaches here that you get the opportunity to impress. There is really a lot of opportunity at this event."

Following USL Men's Player Showcase, Paterson hopes to remain on the radar in the U.S.

"America is really making a push to be a soccer nation and I like that," said Paterson. "I want to stay and be a part of that and see how far I can go here. Besides, I love the lifestyle and weather in America. I am having way too much fun to go home right now."

Des Moines Nicki Paterson spoke highly of the 2008 USL Men's Player Showcase.

USL PREMIER DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE

2008 Season in Review

Success heads north of the border

A three-peat of the championship showdown between Laredo and Michigan was spoiled, but the team missing the final was a surprise based on how the season shook out during the regular season campaign. But the focus of the season would see one last shift to soccer north of the border.

Canadian soccer has had a minimal presence among the headlines in the PDL with the lone moment coming courtesy of the 2001 regular season champion and championship finalist Calgary Storm. When the Thunder Bay Chill and the Vancouver Whitecaps Residency sides squared off in the PDL Semifinals, ensuring a Canadian team in the final, the great white north was again in the mix.

Having seen a championship first in the PDL with a repeat final the year before when the Laredo Heat avenged their 2006 title game loss by claiming the crown in penalties, many would have expected the defending finalists to again be in the running. But the season played out a bit differently.

A new player came to the forefront in the Mid South with the expansion Austin Aztex coming out of the gates well with a record of 10-5-1 to win the division title. Unfortunately for the rookie franchise, postseason experience proved critical as the two would meet for the conference title in Florida with Laredo rallying to win 3-1 on the two-goal effort from league US youth international Felix Garcia. Laredo would go on to blank Reading 2-0 in the league semifinal to return to the championship.

On the other side of the ledger, the Michigan Bucks basically led from the opening kick to the final whistle, finishing with a 13-1-2 season and the regular season PDL title, edging out the Thunder Bay Chill (13-2-1) by a single point. The Bucks would suffer the curse of being the top postseason seed with a stunning 3-1 overtime exit to Kalamazoo in the conference semifinals, opening the door for Thunder Bay, who blanked Cleveland 2-0 and went on to cruise past Kalamazoo 4-0 to reach the PDL Semifinals.

Thunder Bay would play host to the expansion Vancouver side, who tied Tacoma at the top of the Northwest with 34 points, but finished second on tiebreakers.

But Thunder Bay proved the club's new stature, completing its run from the division's worst team in 2006 at 2-11-3 to a first-time playoff qualifier in 2007 to league finalist in 2008, downing the visitors 2-1 to face the defending champions on their home soil.

The Thunder Bay Chill endured all the elements in Laredo to cap one of the most remarkable turnarounds in league history to become the first-ever Canadian champions of the PDL. The visitors survived 100-degree heat, an initial deficit and a second half red card as they battled the defending champions to a 1-1 draw before capturing the title in penalties 4-1.

Two years ago, Thunder Bay only posted two wins on the season for a team-worst 2-11-3 record in nine years of play. It was two saves in penalties by Stephen Paterson that put the Chill down in PDL and USL history.

Only 23 seconds into the second half, the Heat stunned Thunder Bay. Garcia received the ball in the penalty arc, chested it down and rifled a shot on the volley that crashed hard off the crossbar. The ball was cleared out to the left flank where Isaac Morales would send a shot back on goal that Stephen Paterson mishandled at the near post. The ball squirted between the netminder's legs as he kneeled on the ground, allowing Juan Ibarra to knock it home from a yard out.

The Chill found the equalizer in the 63rd minute courtesy of second half sub Gustavo Oliveira, a team leader who has seen limited action of late due to injury. A ball played behind the defense from Jeremy Gold on the left side of the box allowed the charging Oliveira to chip the ball just off the endline over Cooper from an acute angle that found the back of the net just 10 minutes after entering the match. For his efforts off the bench, the second-year Chill midfielder was named the Championship MVP.

The challenge of claiming the title for Thunder Bay, however, became more difficult in the 75th minute when Milroth received a second yellow.

In the penalty kick tiebreaker, it was Paterson making up for an earlier error with two saves. In the second round of spot kicks, Carlos Ordaz's stutter step approach did not work as the shot, just off center, was stopped by Paterson. He then rescued the next shot, which came down the middle, with his foot as he dove to the side. The back-to-back saves combined with goals from all three of their previous shooters left defender Nolan Intermeio with a chance to clinch the title in the fourth round, and the defender did not disappoint, sending the PDL championship north of the border for the first time in league history.

2008 Season in Review

The California gold rush

The league's expansion in California boomed, and with successful coach Charlie Naimo making the switch in coasts, it was not surprising that the championship would find its way to the Golden State.

There were three new sides in the greater Los Angeles area added to the Western Conference, but the spotlight was clearly on the Pali Blues of 2005 W-League championship coach Naimo. With a mix of his former players from the east coast and some top talent from California, Pali dominated the conference with Vancouver battling through a campaign without its usual standard of talent due to international camps and competitions.

Meanwhile, the regular season was not a foregone conclusion for the Blues as 2007 finalist Atlanta Silverbacks were crushing their Atlantic Division opposition and new addition FC Indiana Lionesses roared proudly in the Midwest. The Ottawa Fury were also still in the mix despite the loss of veteran stars Kelly Parker, Marie-Eve Nault and Annie Hamel to the Lionesses. The Washington Freedom recovered from an early setback to also remain in the hunt.

In the end though, it was the perfection of Pali that won out in the regular season championship sweepstakes as draws cost FC Indiana and Atlanta both a shot at the title. Pali's gain also proved Seattle's as the extra postseason berth led to an upset of Vancouver in the conference final, sending the Sounders back to the final four for the third straight year.

FC Indiana and Ottawa both reached the Central Conference Final, where the duo would play to a thrilling 4-3 overtime affair that would finish in FC Indiana's favor. The Lionesses rallied to tie the game 2-2 in the 90th minute on a goal from Laura Del Rio, who also opened the extra time scoring.

The Eastern Conference Final saw a rematch of the 2007 Final between Atlanta and Washington. Unable to avenge their championship defeat, the Silverbacks fell at home 2-1 in overtime as the Freedom rallied to tie in the 77th via Christie Welsh, who set up the winner two minutes before the game would have advanced to penalties.

Seattle proved a difficult out for FC Indiana, who were unable to find a winner until the 87th minute of the W-League Semifinals. In the other semi, the Blues bounced the defending champions 2-0 on a pair of goals from US youth international Danesha Adams. Washington would go on to capture third with a 2-0 win over Seattle.

A scoreless stalemate in the championship was broken in favor of FC Indiana two minutes into the second half and it appeared the Lionesses would hold on for the title until Pali defender Amy LePeilbet scored the crucial equalizer in the 83rd minute. Then as overtime appeared in order, Italian international Ilaria Pasqui scored the winner two minutes from full time to give Pali a perfect championship season.

W-League Combine

Players, coaches and executives laud inaugural event

The inaugural USL W-League Combine wrapped up four days of an impressive display of the W-League's standard of play represented by 128 of its best post-collegiate players.

The professional prospects were continually praised by the coaches and staff from Women's Professional Soccer (WPS) throughout the event as they evaluated their potential players.

"The player level is better at this stage than it was before when we started the WUSA," said former US Women's National Team coach Tony DiCicco, who served as the Women's United Soccer Association Commissioner. "The quality of the amateur players is much better, which will create a very competitive league in WPS from the very first game. Because of the W-League, they have been able to keep playing, keep working on their future. And with the number of teams having increased, more players have been able to take advantage of that opportunity. It is exciting for us as coaches."

DiCicco went on to add that "With a limit of five internationals per team, more than half of the players will have to come from places like the W-League. Right now the jump from college to WPS is big. Only a few college players are really ready to play at the WPS level and many will have to be in the under leagues to continue their development."

Washington Freedom head coach Jim Gabarra and Pali Blues head coach Charlie Naimo, the last two W-League championship coaches, were both on hand for the event and were impressed with the talent on the field, conveying that it has been the best they have seen thus far in the scouting process.

"The overall quality is better than what we saw in another combine last week. And that's not including the top players from my team and others who are not here," commented Naimo as he relayed his projection that a lot of W-League players would move onto WPS.

The players were equally impressed with the organization of the event and the level of competition they faced in Tampa. The Northern Virginia Majestics trio of Kelly Hammond, Amanda Detterline, and Tara Kidwell returned home energized with the prospect of playing professionally in 2009.

"The W-League combine was an opportunity that not many will get," commented Majestic midfielder Hammond. "I feel that it was a privilege to compete this past weekend in Tampa among the best players in the W-League and lucky enough to be on Team 5 with Coach Denise Reddy from Jersey Sky Blue. I am so glad to have met her this past weekend and gain so much insight to the game."

"I enjoyed the combine," continued 2007 Majestic player Detterline. "I think it was a great showcase of the talent and skill in the W-League and it was fun to play with some of the top players in the league/country. It also exposed me to the WPS coaches that weren't coaches in the W-League or in our division that may not have seen me before."

"As I step back and replay this past weekend, I have many thoughts and emotions," reflected Hammond. "I walk away knowing exactly what the process will look like over the next few months as rosters are filled with talented players. I also walk away with much thanks to the coaches and programs that have got me to this point in my playing career. And finally, I am filled with absolute excitement and anticipation of what the next few months will tell."

"The experience was a tremendous opportunity and I owe much thanks to the Northern Virginia Majestics organization that helped me continue to strive for my dream of playing professional," concluded Hammond. "The W-League is currently the highest level at which women can play and the Northern Virginia Majestics provided a training environment conducive to the next level which ultimately helped while competing during the combine."

"After college, it's difficult to get top level competition to keep yourself active, motivated, and playing at the highest level," added Detterline. "The Majestics and other teams provide players with the opportunity to get in competitive game minutes which is essential in training for the WPS."

"From all accounts, the W-League has set the standard to which all other potential players will now be measured against as the WPS teams begin to build their debut rosters," said W-League Director of Operations Melanie Fitzgerald. "The players not only showed their excellent quality of talent over the weekend, but their dedication by all being prepared for such an elite level combine."

USL SUPER Y-LEAGUE

USL SUPER-20 LEAGUE

USL U-20 Player Development

USL Super Y-League (Boys/Girls U13-U17)

Since founding the Super Y-League in 1999 United Soccer Leagues has seen the limitless growth potential in soccer beginning at the youth levels and advancing throughout the professional ranks. By establishing a concrete soccer foundation through highly competitive and developmental youth programs such as the SYL, USL players can develop and compete for one club through the duration of his or her career.

Beginning with 25 teams in its inaugural season, the Super Y-League now boasts well over 500 teams across the US and Canada. Many of the clubs participating in the league are now affiliated with the top professional and amateur men's and women's sides of USL and Major League Soccer, providing a true pyramid of development that mirrors those in "soccer nations" around the globe.

In its first few years, the league was primarily a vehicle for the top players to come together and face higher level competition at a regional and/or national level on a regular basis. Now, the Super Y-League's fully operational ODP system helps propel the careers of elite level players to the upper levels of the professional game in North America.

The Super Y-League North American Finals was the first step in the implementation of ODP status. Making the finals an official scouting event for identifying players for national team pools was just a starting point however.

Part of the mission was to impress upon the senior clubs in North America the importance of playing a significant role in player development. Many professional teams in the US and Canada have used the league to begin their process of establishing academy programs that link the player development system from youth to pro.

USL Super-20 League (Men/Women U-20)

United Soccer Leagues announced the creation of the USL Super-20 League in early 2006. The league is designed as a graduating youth league for elite players from 17-20 as they advance beyond the traditional youth bracket to the senior professional and amateur development leagues. The Super-20 League, for men and women, replaced the U19 age bracket of the Super Y-League, creating a wider range for players on the cusp of playing for PDL or W-League teams.

The league was designed to cater to the top of the youth ranks in the US and Canada for players aspiring to play professionally. It also serves as a reserve division for USL's Premier Development League and W-League teams, who have increasingly taken youth development of this age range under their auspices the past few years on a smaller scale. PDL and W-League teams are able to add USL Super-20 teams to expand their development goals as well as their player pool for the senior team.

In addition to the USL Super-20 League completing the model for club building and vertical integration, it will aid US Soccer and the Canadian Soccer Association in identifying the top U20 players for international competition ranging from U17 to U20.

About the SYL First 11 Club Rankings

The Super Y-League launched a new club ranking system in 2005 with the top clubs ranked from 1-22 and separated into the First and Second 11. With the extensive growth of the second-year USL Super-20 League, the 2008 rankings also include a club's performance in the new league. This system publicizes the top 22 clubs in both the boys and girls categories as well as overall. The rankings are based primarily upon the on-field results - winning percentage accounting for 70 percent of the score. Minimum standards and operations complete the other 30 percent.

SYL ODP

THE SUPER Y-LEAGUE ODP PHILOSOPHY

To identify players for U.S. National Team Programs, within their natural environment during competition on their club team during the Super Y-League season.

Purpose

The Super Y-League ODP system began in 2003 to identify a pool of players in each age group of the league for identification to U.S. National Team Programs; and to utilize the clubs system in the United States to identify players.

How do I participate?

Contact your local club that participates in the Super Y-League to become a part of the Super Y-League ODP system. Players will be scouted during league play by the national scouting system of the Super Y-League, which is comprised of selected qualified individuals within the clubs of the league.

Program Description History

In 2002, the Super Y-League, through US Soccer and the United States Olympic Committee, was granted ODP programs to identify players for U.S. National Team Programs. The first selection process began during the 2003 season to identify players for Regional Team selection events, where U.S. National Staff Coaches scouted players for National Team Programs. The Super Y-League North American Finals is another ODP program of the system.

The Super Y-League ODP Selection Process

During the regular season over a series of matches, players are evaluated for tactical, physical and psychological characteristics that will determine their ability to attend the ODP Select Camp held in January and February of 2009. Through the national scouting system, the clubs contain select individuals that serve as the scouts for the league. These individuals are comprised of coaches and technical directors of the clubs.

What are SYL ODP Select Camps?

The top 16 players chosen by the divisional scouting system in each age group per geographic division of the Super Y-League will attend the ODP Select Camp. These camps are attended by U.S. National Staff Coaches to identify players for U.S. National Team Programs, as well as many of the nation's top collegiate coaches. These camps are held in Florida in January and February of 2009.

What are the benefits of the SYL ODP system?

1. Selection of players within the natural environment on their club teams within league play, as opposed to an open try-out system. Many players do not participate in the open-tryout ODP system operated by state associations. Some players do not react or perform well in an open tryout process.
2. Exposure to U.S. National Staff Coaches.
3. Exposure to professional and collegiate scouts.
4. No cost to be scouted. The scouting system is built into league play and contains no ODP fees save camp housing and meal costs.

SELECTION PROCESS

Step 1: A player is evaluated over the course of the season in Super Y-League competition by the scouting staff of the division in each age group.

Step 2: At the completion of the season, or specified time, the coaching staff of each club recommends to the ODP Divisional Age Scout each player that they recommend per age group that has demonstrated their ability on the field during season play.

Step 3: The ODP Divisional Age Scout in concert with the Technical Directors of each club and the Divisional ODP Staff Coach, assemble a Divisional ODP Team consisting of 18 players (2 goalkeepers and 16 field players).

Step 4: The Divisional ODP Team will attend the ODP Select Camp held for their corresponding age group in January or February.

Step 5: Once at the ODP Select Camp, players will be evaluated over intense competition and training by the ODP Staff and US Soccer National Coaching Staff. At the completion of the event a final selection for the ODP Select Team will be made recognizing the top players in the Super Y-League. Once this selection has been made, certain ODP Select Teams may be invited to participate in events to compete against US National Teams, participate in foreign tours or attend training sessions with storied English Premier League Youth Academies in the United Kingdom.

SYL North American Finals

10 CLUBS CAPTURE 10 TITLES

U14 Boys Championship

In a battle of two teams competing for an unbeaten season, it was a surprising act of sportsmanship at the conclusion of the match that would become the story of the game as a controversial equalizer for PDA in stoppage time would be overruled by their own coach, who conceded the 1-1 draw to their opposition Cal Odyssey instead of going to overtime.

Cal Odyssey got the better of the chances early on with a corner from Nathan Smith in the third minute finding Daniel Flores 14 yards out on the near side, but the header would sail just wide of the far post.

But five minutes later, an excellent play from Tren Biswell was the difference in the game. Biswell received the ball 40 yards from goal and drove diagonally toward the left flank before cutting back to goal near the penalty area, slicing through defenders and slipping a well struck low shot past the keeper.

Biswell nearly doubled the advantage in the 30th minute when he got his head on the ball 10 yards out, but the lofted shot was barely tipped over the woodwork by Luke Rossi.

PDA's first good opportunity to tie the match came eight minutes into the second frame on a breakaway when a long clearance out of the box was headed forward at midfield by Brandon Allen that Connor Ventura raced with his marker to get to. Ventura would get the advantage, but his shot from the top of the box forced a good save from Jonathan Pulido.

The two sides would continue to battle as PDA searched to level the match. Then as the game stretched into stoppage time, controversy struck when a restart for PDA 30 yards out led to confusion amongst all the players on

U17 Boys Championship

The first half of the boys' U17 finale between TSF Academy and Parsippany played to the favor of TSF, who gelled during the North American Finals tournament. Parsippany was limited to defending for long stretches as TSF controlled the ball and attacked wide, sending numerous balls into the area for Jakeem Johnson.

"Things were not looking good for us after the second day of this tournament," said TSF Academy Head Coach Zico Nunes. "We lost 5-0 on Saturday to the Fort Wayne Fever, but the guys really came together after that loss. The next day, we went out and beat Miami Strike Force 6-0, and they were a team that beat Fort Wayne 2-0. There was a lot of parity in the tournament, a lot of players who have strong Division I careers ahead of them."

"On the goal, which came at the midway point of the second half, Joshua Delva found room from his midfield position to take a shot on net. The ball dipped quickly as it entered the area and Johnson, a formidable target forward, was in perfect position to tip it over the on-rushing goalkeeper for a 1-0 lead.

MAGIC KEEP TITLE STREAK GOING

U16 Girls Championship

The only goal of the match came with seconds remaining in the first half of overtime. After the Magic won a corner kick, Janie Tedesco knocked a ball into the box. The ensuing scramble that followed came to Victoria Dunn, who nodded a header past the Real So Cal goalkeeper for the game-winner.

"There were not a lot of good chances in regulation," said Fonfara. "Both teams had a lot of college players with bright futures and those players battled all day long in the midfield."

"Shayla Mutz, a forward, had a real strong week for us," added Fonfara. "And of course, Victoria Dunn, she is the little engine in the middle that makes us go. She is the player we could not afford to be without. Her work rate is fantastic and that is one of those things you cannot teach."

The victory ensured that the club's run of winning at least one SYL North American championship each year continued. Since the streak began in 2003, the Magic have won 10 combined SYL titles with the 2008 crown being the third in girls competition.

SYL North American Finals

Parsippany increased their pace of play following the goal, but the side could not put enough passes together to seriously challenge the opposing keeper.

U16 Boys Championship

Looking for their fifth-straight win in the finals at the Ed Radice Park Stadium in Tampa, Florida, Burnaby's Alex Yoon gave Les Krivak's Mountain WFC a halftime lead before Port Moody's Sasha Vukovic sealed the title with a second-half penalty. The win was Mountain's first-ever Super Y-League championship in only their second year as a Vancouver Whitecaps FC and BCSCA affiliate club, and the second Super Y-League title for the Whitecaps since the 2004 season. That year, the Whitecaps U-13 Boys were crowned North American champions.

With players and parents from other Mountain teams cheering on the U-16 Boys in the final, the Lower Mainland-based team enjoyed a good start to the final versus their opponents from New Jersey as the significance of the match had little impact on the performance of Krivak's youngsters. In fact, Mountain took a 1-0 lead into the break as good combination play from a throw-in allowed substitute Yoon to get in behind the TSF Academy backline before slotting the ball into the back of the net.

A goal behind, TSF Academy pressed forward soon after the restart, as they searched for a way back into the contest. Mountain, however, remained resolute in their defending and were eventually rewarded with a crucial second goal. Yoon got on the end of a cross in the TSF Academy box before playing the ball off of an opponent's hand to earn Mountain a penalty. Vukovic stepped up to convert the spot kick and confirm Mountain's championship.

"We knew we had a chance of success because the squad is a tight-knit group," said Krivak. "However, I thought the boys believed we could win the title after the first two games. We knew we had lots of quality up front and the ability to score lots of goals. Our only concern, however, was with our defensive backline, as we had some injuries in that area before the tournament. Even though we had only one training session to work on our defensive shape before the finals, we did very well in recording four clean sheets."

U13 Boys Championship

"It wasn't pretty," said Diablo FC Head Coach Marquis White. "But this team did anything they could to win this championship."

Following a back-and-forth 2-2 stalemate after 100 minutes of soccer, Diablo FC converted all five of their penalty attempts to win the U13 boys championship. PDA failed to convert their second attempt, and the two-goal lead was insurmountable after Travis Volpe netted his attempt to push the score to 5-3.

"Sean Hart stepped up for the first time all year for us," said White. "He was the player of the tournament for us and he couldn't have picked a better time to play his best. Elisama Padilla is also deserving of some praise. He hit a laser from 30-yards out in the semifinal to get us into this game."

U15 Boys Championship

In a match that finished with a strange scoring summary, West Coast FC controlled the scoreboard as they limited City Islanders Academy's opportunities in the game. In the end, it was a penalty followed by two own goals that gave West Coast the 3-0 victory.

Three minutes into the match, West Coast's Juan Mendoza converted from the spot for the early lead. Seven minutes later, the ball deflected off a defender and looped over the City Islanders keeper and into the far side netting to make it 2-0.

In the 31st minute, the Harrisburg side nearly cut into the deficit when the ball fell to Seth Hoover, but his shot went just wide.

As the game wound down in the latter stages, a ball sent low into the box along the end line from the left side got past the keeper, but the defender at the far post inadvertently knocked the ball over the goal line, dashing any hopes of a rally.

SYL North American Finals

U13 Girls Championship

The U13 girls' championship was the second time in three days that Schulz Academy and the CASL RailHawks faced one another. The first match was played on Sunday, November 23 and it saw Schulz get a goal from Donish Cole to advance to the semifinals, 1-0. The loss was the first and only defeat of the season for the RailHawks, who came into that match 11-0-0. Luckily their six points through two days of group play matches were enough to propel them into the wild card position based on goals against.

The rematch turned on a penalty kick awarded to CASL with nine minutes remaining in the first half. On the play, a ball over the top of Schulz's back line sprung CASL forward Maya Worth in on goal. The well-placed ball put Worth in good position, and she beat Schulz goalkeeper Cheyenne Walker to the ball by a step. Touching to the side of Walker, Worth was in on goal before being tripped up by the goalkeeper and awarded the kick from the spot.

Teammate Alexis Degler stepped up and netted the 12-yarder into the lower right corner of the goal for the eventual game-winner.

The majority of the second half was played on CASL's defensive third, but Schulz's attack was continually broken up by the defensive midfielders of CASL and the RailHawks backline and goalkeeper were only tested once or twice before the final whistle. The most prevalent effort was put forth by the youngest CASL player, midfielder Joanna Boyles.

U15 Girls Championship

In a rematch of the 2006 U13 Girls Final, the California sides of Arsenal and Diablo found themselves squaring off in a match that followed a similar path as the championship meeting that finished 2-1 in favor of Arsenal two years ago.

Deadlocked at zeros with 10 minutes remaining in the match, Wendy Magarin scored from just outside the penalty area to give Diablo the initial lead. But Autumn Altamirana would tie the match to force overtime by beating goalkeeper Kathryn Barsanti to the ball on a cross in the box and bodying the ball into the goal.

In the sixth minute of overtime, it was Jemia Fields finding the winner as she cut to her right at the top left corner of the 18 and sent a perfect shot to the upper right corner of the goal from 16 yards out, giving Arsenal their second title in three years 2-1.

U14 Girls Championship

In a showdown of former USL First Division rival clubs led by former USL-1 stars in coaches Iggy Moleka and Rob Ukrop, the Atlanta Silverbacks were able to blank the Richmond Kickers 2-0 to finish the season unbeaten for the year at 16-0-1.

The title match was hard-fought between two tired teams. While the Kickers had a point blank chance by Dina Scott in the first minute that the goalkeeper Alexis Connors stifled, the Silverbacks registered first, one minute later, off a beautiful cross and first-time finish. The Kickers pressured but could not equalize and the Silverbacks struck again on a cross and header finish in the 52nd minute. Kickers goalkeeper Kirsten Hancock was able to tip the shot off the bar, but the ball slipped just over the line despite her heroic efforts.

The efforts of Connors combined with the goal and assist from Meghan Hussey proved to be the two key elements of the South Atlantic Division rivals, who squared off in a 4-0 Atlanta victory earlier in the season.

U17 Girls Championship

Longtime USL clubs and SYL New England Division rivals, the Ottawa Fury and MPS Lady Crusaders of Cape Cod battled through the competition from around North America to find themselves face to face once again for the league championship.

The MPS Lady Crusaders took the regular season division title by one point despite a scoreless draw at home and a 3-2 defeat to the Fury in Ottawa. In the end, the third meeting proved the most important as they took the championship by one goal.

At the end of the first half, a goal from Ottawa substitute Kayla Kazda and Cape Cod's Devin Petta had the score level at 1-1, but Petta's second of the match after the break, assisted for the second time by Andrea Noqueira, proved the difference for the Lady Crusaders as they finished the tournament with a perfect 5-0-0 mark.

Super-20 North American Finals

Super-20 Men

The Chicago Fire opened on the attack early and finished the game off late in their 2-1 victory over the Toronto Lynx in the Super-20 North American Finals.

The Fire wasted no time in putting their stamp on the match and thought they found the first goal in just the second minute. Then Toronto's Chris Mitchell, stationed on the front right post, reacted brilliantly and headed away a sure goal.

Ten minutes later the complexion of the match changed for good as Mitchell was sent off with a red card following an altercation on the left flank. The Fire used the one man advantage, and a brilliant diving header from Matt Eliason to get that early, 1-0 lead.

But the resilient Lynx, who had been down a goal in two matches already that weekend, would not go silently. After they regrouped at the half Toronto managed to press Chicago, and a brilliant individual effort from a phenomenal athlete, Jordan Webb, put them right back in the match, 1-1.

"Sherif [El-Masri] played a great ball in for me," said Webb after the match. "The cross came in and I just beat the defender to the ball and headed it past the goalie."

But while the first Canadian side to appear in the Super-20 League North American Finals could overcome insurmountable odds, they could not overcome the Chicago Fire. In the 81st minute Chris Cutshaw's bent corner kick was won in the area, again by Eliason, and the ball traveled the length of the goalmouth before settling inside the back post netting for the 2-1 win.

Super-20 Women

On the first corner of the game, taken by Dani Stolt just five minutes into the USL Super-20 League North American Final, Kate Ryan popped open and one-timed a spinning ball that nicked the left post and trickled by Triangle FC goalkeeper Kelsey Kearney for an early 1-0 lead.

This being the third consecutive season that Parsippany was part of the women's final, few expected Triangle to rebound from the early deficit, but they did, winning 4-2 on penalty kicks after drawing the defending champions 2-2 in regulation.

Parsippany goalkeeper Amanda Davis and Kearney came up with big plays and saves as the half finished out.

Just as the five minute mark proved critical in Triangle opening the scoring, it was the fifth minute that proved their downfall in the second stanza. It began with a hard shot that took a sharp bounce on Parsippany's second half goalkeeper Mandy Schwartz. The ball was deflected and careened down the end line towards the corner flag. Mollie Pathman was all over the loose ball for Triangle and she switched the point of attack to teammate Taylor Ray. Ray set up her right foot and put a line drive into the far corner for a 1-1 draw.

Seconds later Triangle took complete control of the match when Ray dumped a ball back to left back Alexandra Berger. Joining the attack late, Berger decided to rip a shot on goal from long range.

"We had momentum at that point in the match so I just thought 'why not have a shot,'" said Berger of the goal, which carried at least 30 yards, over the head of Schwartz, and fit just below the crossbar, into the far upper-90 for the 2-1 lead.

The only thing wrong with Berger's goal was that it came too quick. It left the majority of the half for Parsippany to come from a goal down in a very familiar match. And it was a very familiar attacking duo that combined to even the score when Ryan looped a pass over the head of the Triangle defense, into the path of Danielle Stolt. Stolt beat Kearney to the ball and chipped the charging keeper to even the score and send the match into extra time.

Neither team could earn a decent look on net in overtime and Parsippany entered the penalty kick tiebreaker for a second time in their three-year run of Super-20 finals appearances. The surefooted Ryan stepped to the mark for Parsippany, but it was Kearney who set the tone for the remainder of the shootout as she blocked her first of two saves.

The following two guidelines will be followed during the implementation of USL tiebreakers for all ties involving three or more teams:

- 1) The tiebreaker will determine the winner first.
- 2) The tiebreaker will continue to be followed in order to determine the ranking of the remaining teams without restarting from the beginning.

- 1) Head-to-head record based on total points in League games.*
- 2) Total wins in League games
- 3) Goal difference in League games.
- 4) Goals scored in League games.
- 5) Total points within smallest grouping. If number of games is unequal, then point percentage will be used.

League games: refers solely to games that count towards the regular season standings. Open Cup qualifying specific games are NOT "League games" when it comes to determining placement in the League standings. (When utilizing these criteria to determine tiebreakers for Open Cup groups, "League games" should be interpreted as all games that count toward the Open Cup group standings.)

* Should more than two teams involved have played each other an UNEQUAL number of times, this tiebreaker will be skipped.

Group: term used to describe the primary unit in which a team competes (i.e. PDL – Southwest Division)

Point Percentage: number of total points earned / maximum possible points (3 per game)

The First Round will involve the #2 - #7 seeds competing in two-leg aggregate score series with the three winners advancing to Semifinals with #1 seed pitted against the lowest remaining seed. The semifinal winners advance to the USL-1 Championship, a two-legged aggregate score series.

USL Second Division: The playoffs will feature the top five teams in the regular season standings. The fourth and fifth seeds will square off in a midweek First Round encounter August 19 for a spot in the Semifinals. The regular season champion will face the lowest remaining overall seed unless they have played during the season, which would result in a pairing with the next lowest seed. The championship game will be August 7-8, and will air on Fox Soccer Channel.

Central Conference Playoffs: The playoffs begin with a midweek divisional playoff game between the second and third-seeded teams in the Great Lakes Division. The divisional playoff winner will join the Great Lakes top seed and the top two teams from the Midwest Division at the conference tournament (top seed has first right to host or host determined by bid). The divisional top seeds face the lower seed from the opposite division in the conference semifinals.

Eastern Conference Playoffs: The top two teams each from the Atlantic and Northeast Divisions will meet at the conference tournament (top seed has first right to host or host determined by bid). The divisional top seeds face the lower seed from the opposite division in the conference semifinals.

Western Conference Playoffs: The top two teams meet in a conference championship match.

During postseason play, single games tied after regulation will be followed by two 15-minute overtime periods played in their entirety. If still tied, FIFA penalty kicks are used to determine the winner.

TWO-LEG, AGGREGATE SCORE SERIES

Playoffs: Each team will host a regulation 90-minute match. If the series score is tied at the conclusion of the second game (180 minutes total), two 15-minute overtime periods are played in their entirety to determine the series winner. If neither team scores, the series is then decided via FIFA penalty kicks. Rules governing the play of overtime and penalty kicks are extended from the second match. The higher seed holds the privilege of selecting to host first or second leg unless otherwise noted.

2008 USL SoccerFest

With the unveiling of the final team and individual honors for the Super Y-League, the 2008 United Soccer Leagues SoccerFest, held November 20-25 in Tampa, officially came to a close. The USL SoccerFest included the crowning of 10 SYL champions, the Annual General Meetings for USL's senior leagues as well as several other events.

"Once again, the USL SoccerFest proved to be an outstanding showcase event encompassing all the facets of the organization, from our top flight USL First Division men's professional league all the way down to the U13 youth leagues," said USL Founder and President Francisco Marcos. "I was very proud to welcome very important special guests as we continue to forge international relations that could lead to future USL franchises or partnerships abroad. I know they were all very impressed and I expect announcements soon about some of our upcoming developments."

Among the special guests were Luis Baraldi (VP, International) and Andres Fassi Jurgens (Executive VP) of CF Pachuca; Reid Rafter (Director of Operations) for Tuzos USA; Sporting's Paulo Cardoso (Director of International Scouting), Rita Figueira (Director of International expansion and BOD member) and Diogo Matos (former player / Commercial Director of Sporting Academy); Jason Hughes (Director of International Development) of Celtic as well as Paul Fletcher (Chief Executive) and Martin Dobson (U-21 coach) of Burnley FC, which recently partnered with Next Level Academy to form the Cary Claretts in the USL Premier Development League.

Eleven Champions

On a day when 10 league champions were crowned, an 11th team showed their best side as champions of Fair Play. Trailing 1-0 late in the U14 Boys Championship against Cal Odyssey, a stoppage time equalizer under controversial circumstances in which neither teams' players were aware the play was live on a restart led to a tie score as the final seconds ticked away. PDA's coaches Sam Nellins, Todd Moser and Gerry McKeown then displayed a surprising act of fair play following the conclusion of regulation. During the break before overtime, the trio conceded the match to the side from northern California. The match was officially still ruled a draw, maintaining the club's unbeaten status for the year.

Boys Champions: U13 Diablo FC, U14 Cal Odyssey, U15 West Coast FC, U16 Mountain WFC, U17 TSF Academy
Girls Champions: U13 CASL, U14 Atlanta Silverbacks, U15 Arsenal FC, U16 Chicago Magic, U17 MPS Cape Cod Lady Crusaders

With parity spreading among the high caliber of clubs participating in the North American Finals, the movement from the regular season rankings previously announced was minimal as only three clubs moved up the table in the Overall list. Three clubs advanced in the Boys table and six ascended up the Girls chart. The Chicago Magic remained number one in Overall and Boys while the Washington Freedom were still the top club for Girls.

Frenzy Fun

The third annual USL SoccerFest Five-A-Side Frenzy took place November 22-23 at the Ed Radice Sports Complex, featuring an adult and youth divisions playing, in part, on the feature field made by Sprinturf at the Players'Village. The Ex St. Leo Lions defeated the HCU Red Devils for the title in the adult bracket while 30 youth teams enjoyed their experience in the event, which was sponsored by UMBRO, Fox Soccer Channel, Bright House and the Mix 100.7 FM.

Power Soccer

November 23 featured a special exhibition series with three teams, including two Tampa sides, from the United States Power Soccer Association's competitive Division 1 at the Ed Radice Sports Complex. Power Soccer is the fastest growing sport for power wheelchair users. Power Soccer is the first competitive team sport designed and developed specifically for power wheelchair users.

The exhibitions were held in the USL SoccerFest's Street Soccer field at the Players' Village between the Tampa Bay Thunder, Tampa Crossfire and Atlanta Synergy. USPSA President Dominic Russo was on hand and also delivered a seminar about Power Soccer at the USL Annual General Meeting to the senior franchises, among whom the Hampton Roads Piranhas organization has been a staunch supporter of their local USPSA teams.

Coaching Symposium

Thadeu Goncalves, the Director of Instituto Brasileiro de Futebol, led a Coaching Symposium held annually during the USL SoccerFest on November 23. The symposium was a five-part seminar focusing on tactical development, the mental aspects of Brazilian soccer, the application of mental speed and the seven steps of shooting technique. Goncalves has taught the Brazilian methodology to coaches and players across the world. He earned his Brazilian Soccer National Coaching License in 1980 and his United States Soccer Federation "A" License in 1994. Goncalves' coaching resume includes a stint with the Brazilian U20 National Team.

Sponsors & Partners

The USL SoccerFest proved to be a great success thanks, in part, to the outstanding sponsors and partners that helped make the event possible. Making the 2008 edition of the weeklong event a triumph were UMBRO, Sprinturf, Fox Soccer Channel, Pasco County, the Tampa Bay Sports Commission, Demosphere, 360 Architecture and GT Grandstands.

USL Hall of Fame

Dedication... Determination... Sacrifice... Vision... Character

United Soccer Leagues announced that former USL First Division championship foes Amos Magee and Pat Onstad were selected for induction into the USL Hall of Fame as Players, and that Northern Virginia Royals owner Mo Sheta will be inducted as a Builder at the 2008 USL Hall of Fame induction ceremony at the USL SoccerFest in Tampa, FL November 21.

A year after the season of 1995 was a central theme between the two players inducted into the USL Hall of Fame, perhaps it is fitting that the next two players to be inducted also share a common thread, having faced one another in back-to-back championship games as the Minnesota Thunder and Rochester Raging Rhinos squared off for the league title.

While they share a common link, their stories could not be more different. Magee, a lifelong member of the Thunder, has been with the club since its inception as an independent amateur side and has been with the team, excluding a brief stint in MLS, through present day as a player, coach and technical director. Onstad nearly never rose to his greatness having prematurely retired in 1995, but after a year and a half as a teacher, returned to the field and, at the age of 40, has become one of the pre-eminent goalkeepers of the era.

Magee and Onstad were inducted by the voting panel consisting of previous USL Hall of Fame inductees, receiving at least 70 percent of the vote. Mo Sheta will be inducted via the President's Selection.

Being honored as 10+ Clubs in the USL Hall of Fame will be the Brooklyn Knights, Central Florida Kraze, Northern Virginia Majestics and Westchester Flames. The four clubs were all founded in 1998. In the first year of voting for the Builder category, no individuals reached the 70 percent threshold for induction.

MO SHETA (BUILDER)

An owner of the Royals for over 10 years, Sheta helped found the club in the USL Second Division in 1998 and watched over eight professional seasons, working closely with nearby DC United in player development. Focused on player development, Sheta has worked closely with the independent Northern Virginia Majestics W-League team in developing the sport in the community and moved the Royals to the PDL in 2006. In addition, Sheta and the Royals were one of the original 16 members of the Super Y-League in 1999, making them one of the earliest USL clubs to make a commitment to player development at the elite youth level. Following the theme of pioneers, the Royals were also among the inaugural members of the 2006 launch of the USL Super-20 League. The club's model of development has seen significant progress on and off the field, reaching the overall, boys and girls categories in the annual SYL First 11 rankings in 2007 and 2008. As a club, the Royals/Majestics reached the First 11 plateau in 2007 at number 10 overall with the boys and girls programs each finishing in the Second 11. In the regular season edition of the 2008 rankings, the club climbed to sixth in the overall and boys tables and was 16th in the girls.

AMOS MAGEE (PLAYER)

A Thunder original, Magee's career began with the team prior to it joining USL in 1994. Magee helped guide the team to six championship game appearances during his USL career, winning the USL First Division Championship in 1999 with Magee setting up both goals in the 2-1 victory over Rochester in a rematch of the previous year's final. The Thunder were unbeaten at 18-0 in their inaugural USL campaign in 1994, but fell in the championship. The club suffered only one defeat in 20 games the following year as a professional team, but again were unable to win the championship game. Magee led the team in scoring for three consecutive seasons from 1996 to his pinnacle in 1998, ranking third in the league in points (40) and tied for third in goals (15). He earned All-League honors that season. Buoyed by their run to the final in 1998, Magee helped lead the Thunder to within four points of the regular season title in 1999 and a 6-0 run in the playoffs to capture their first league championship in four attempts. The team's success, coupled with former General Manager Bill Manning joining Tampa of MLS, led to Magee's move in 2000 to the Mutiny. He would return to the club full-time in 2001, instantly inserting himself as a team leader once again, finishing second on the team in points and help the club rebuild for another run for a championship in 2003 that again fell short. He took on a role as player / assistant coach in his final season in 2004 and was later named head coach in 2006 following the retirement of USL Hall of Fame Coach Buzz Lagos. In his eight seasons in the USL First Division, he registered 37 goals and 22 assists in 150 regular season games. He was inducted into the Wesleyan University Hall of Fame in October and recently led the US Maccabi team to a gold medal as head coach.

PAT ONSTAD (PLAYER)

Currently one of the best goalkeepers in North America, Onstad's career started on modest terms as he spent the first seven years as a professional playing in the Canadian Soccer League before joining the Toronto Rockets of what is now the USL First Division in 1994. After a season with Toronto and half a campaign with the Montreal Impact in 1995, Onstad retired from the game at the age of 27 and became a physical education teach in Vancouver. Two seasons later he came out of retirement to play for the expansion Toronto Lynx in 1997. The following year he joined the Rochester Raging Rhinos, where his career would reach new heights. Onstad helped lead Rochester to the USL First Division regular season and playoff championships in 1998, leading the league in goals against average (0.50) en route to earning the Goalkeeper of the Year and All-League honors. His successful run continued in 1999 as he helped lead the Rhinos to a second consecutive regular season title. Although the Rhinos would fall in the championship game, Onstad's season was highlighted with another championship, capturing the US Open Cup trophy with four consecutive wins over Major League Soccer opponents. He was second in the league in GAA with a mark of 0.62, earning All-League honors. His success led to a stint in 2000 with Dundee United of the Scottish Premier League, but he returned stateside in 2001 only to miss nearly the entire season due to a wrist fracture. In 2002, however, he returned to prominence with another second-place finish in GAA (0.75). An emergency need for a goalkeeper in San Jose in 2003 led to Onstad's move to Major League Soccer, where he has continued to be a league leader and champion. In just his first season, Onstad eclipsed single-season team records and was named Goalkeeper of the Year after finishing second in GAA (1.04) in the league while helping lead the Earthquakes to the MLS Cup championship. Two years later, Onstad was again named Goalkeeper of the Year after setting new team records and finishing first in the league in GAA (0.97). In the team's first year in Houston in 2006, Onstad helped deliver an MLS Cup championship, playing every minute of the season. He helped guide the club to a second consecutive MLS Cup championship in 2007 while finishing first again in GAA with a mark of 0.82. At the close of the 2008 campaign, Onstad finished with the league's best GAA for a third time in four years with a mark of 1.03 at the age of 40, bringing his MLS career average to 1.07. On the international stage, Onstad has been involved with the Canadian National Team for over 20 years, making 56 appearances for the senior squad and posting team record 22 shutouts.

Dating back to 1914, the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup is the oldest cup competition in United States soccer and is among the oldest in the world. Open to all affiliated amateur and professional teams in the United States, the annual U.S. Open Cup is a single-elimination tournament.

A total of 40 teams, including 24 professional and 16 amateur clubs, will compete in the 2009 Lamar Hunt US Open Cup when it kicks off in June.

Although the tournament proper, conducted by the US Soccer Federation, only consists of 40 teams, qualifying for the event includes 92 clubs total from United Soccer Leagues and Major League Soccer alone. The US Adult Soccer Association's National Open tournament provides hundreds of other teams from around the country the opportunity to qualify for the honor of competing in the event.

The US Open Cup is a single-elimination tournament, with games tied after regulation being decided in two 15-minute overtime halves. If neither team scores during the overtime period, the winner is decided on penalty kicks. The team that advances the furthest from each level except Division I earns a $10,000 cash prize. The runner-up takes home $50,000, while the champion collects $100,000. The winner also will have the team's name engraved on the historic Dewar Challenge Trophy, the oldest trophy in American team sports that is housed in the National Soccer Hall of Fame in Oneonta, N.Y.

The 2008 Tournament

Battery take rare shot at title

Charleston-Seattle Semifinal ensured first USL finalist since '99 champ Rhinos

For the second consecutive year, the USL First Division and USL Second Division clubs showed well in competition with their superiors, ultimately finishing with two USL-1 sides in the semifinals at the same time for only the second time since the inception of Major League Soccer. For the third time, one would reach the final.

The first upset of the tournament for USL clubs came in the Second Round when the USL-2 Cleveland City Stars eliminated the Minnesota Thunder 2-0. It was not the end of the success for the USL-2 clubs as Crystal Palace Baltimore shocked the New York Red Bulls of MLS 2-0 in the Third Round and took the defending tournament champion New England Revolution to penalty kicks tied 1-1, before being knocked out 5-3 in the tiebreaker.

The rest of the tournament was all about the Seattle Sounders and Charleston Battery. For the second consecutive year, the Battery eliminated the defending MLS Cup champion Houston Dynamo (4-3 in penalties after a 1-1 draw) and the Sounders bounced Chivas USA, 2-0, in the Third Round.

USL-1 Rookie of the Year Osvaldo Alonso played a key role for the Battery

Charleston went on to post a surprising 3-1 victory on the road over FC Dallas in the Quarterfinals. Seattle battled the Kansas City Wizards to a scoreless draw, advancing 6-5 on penalties to set up a semifinal showdown between the two USL-1 foes, guaranteeing a USL side in the final.

Allowing their first goal of the competition proved fatal for the Sounders as the 1-1 draw saw the two clubs go to the tiebreaker for the second time each in the tournament with Charleston advancing 4-3 to face DC United, 3-1 winners over New England, in the championship.

Luciano Emilio gave the hosts the early lead in the nation's capital with a strike five minutes into the match, but Charleston's Ian Fuller equalized only five minutes later. Charleston nearly took the lead in the 20th when a shot from Lazo Alavanja went off the post. The missed opportunity proved costly as DC would retake the lead five minutes into the second half courtesy of Fred, and hold on to capture their second Open Cup title.

CONCACAF Champions League

USL-1 clubs defy expectations

Montreal and Puerto Rico make stunning runs to advance from Group Stage

The expanded format of the new CONCACAF Champions League gave additional berths to the Caribbean and Canada, which would in turn give USL-1 teams the opportunity to lay claim that the league was among the best in the confederation as Montreal and Puerto Rico turned Preliminary Round upsets into the standard as their runs continued and both also advanced out of the Group Stage to the Quarterfinals.

After earning a spot as the Canadian champion by beating out league rival Vancouver and Major League Soccer's Toronto FC, the Impact went on a seven game unbeaten run in the Champions League before suffering a loss in their final group game after having already secured a quarterfinal berth. Montreal fired the opening salvo with a 1-0 victory over the Nicaraguan champion Real Esteli in the first leg of the Preliminary Round and sealed advancement with a scoreless draw on the road.

As the tournament continued in the group phase, the Montreal defense continued to be the story as the club posted a 2-0 victory over Joe Public, who had eliminated the MLS New England Revolution 6-1 on aggregate, and played Mexican champion Atlante to a surprising 0-0 draw in their first two games at home.

The Impact then took the show on the road and stunned

Delgado helped lead Puerto Rico in a surprising upset over Mexico's Santos

Olimpia in Honduras 2-1 and Joe Public 4-1 before returning home for a 1-1 draw against the Hondurans that clinched a spot in the final eight. A late goal in their group finale in Cancun would hand Montreal its first defeat, 2-1, and give the Mexican side the group title on tiebreakers.

Having advanced from a special Caribbean qualifier between the regions two previous semifinalist losers, the Islanders shocked many with a Preliminary Round victory over 2004 Champions Cup winner Alajuelense of Costa Rica, a regular power nation in the competition. A late goal on the road in the first leg netted a 1-1 draw for the Islanders, who would post a late come-from-behind 2-1 victory with two strikes in the final three minutes in Puerto Rico to advance.

Pesoli and the Impact had plenty to celebrate as they were the first team to clinch a Quarterfinal berth

The Islanders opened group play with two at home, downing Panama's Tauro 2-1 and stunning Mexico's Santos Laguna 3-1. On the road, Puerto Rico earned a 2-2 draw against Guatemala's Municipal as they ran their league and CONCACAF unbeaten run to 17 games before falling in Mexico to Santos Laguna 3-0 with reserves as they prepared for the USL-1 Final later that week. Their return home would see Municipal hand the Islanders a 1-0 loss, forcing a difficult task for their finale. But the Islanders scored two early goals and held on for a 2-2 road draw against Tauro to advance on tiebreakers to the quarterfinals.

MLS / WPS Drafts

PDL and W-League players selected in pro drafts

In the second draft for the new Women's Professional Soccer, the first featuring graduating college players, a total of 41 current and former W-League players were selected by the seven clubs in the 10-round draft.

USL W-League players represented 24 of the 28 picks made on October 6 in WPS's General Draft, which consisted of four rounds of selections between the seven WPS clubs. Moreover, 18 of those 24 selections competed as recently as the 2008 W-League season. The 24 W-League players selected in the General Draft joined 10 that were selected in the WPS International Rights Draft September 24 and the 13 alumni that were originally assigned September 16 as part of the US Women's National Team allocations.

Historically, the same incorporation of W-League alumni occurred with the launch of the Women's United Soccer Association in 2001. A total of 92 current and former W-League players were allocated or drafted by the WUSA leading up to the first of its three seasons.

Nine players were selected from the two W-League championship clubs with five taken from the champion Pali Blues and four from the runners-up FC Indiana Lionesses.

The Washington Freedom saw the most W-League players selected with seven finding their way to WPS rosters, six of whom were taken by Washington itself.

In the General Draft in October, Freedom head coach Jim Gabarra spent little time selecting his own W-League players, taking Sarah Huffman with the first overall pick and Becky Sauerbrunn with the third overall selection. Huffman had helped guide the Freedom to the W-League title in 2007 and nearly repeated with Sauerbrunn in 2008, falling in the W-League Semifinals to the eventual champion.

Kendall Fletcher was selected by her Pali Blues coach Charlie Naimo to play for LA

In the annual MLS SuperDraft, 39 players with USL experience in the Premier Development League or Super Y-League were selected in the four-round, 60-player event. Cleveland Internationals striker Steve Zakuani was the first overall selection with Sam Cronin going second as the first of eight former Carolina Dynamo players taken.

A native of Akron, Ohio, the MLS expansion pick by the Seattle Sounders put up impressive numbers last season in Cleveland. He finished tied for 14th in the league in scoring with 22 points on nine goals and four assists over the course of only 11 matches.

Four-year PDL veteran and standout defensive midfielder Sam Cronin was taken second overall by Toronto FC. He was one of eight former Carolina Dynamo players chosen in the draft, including fellow First Round selection Michael Lahoud, who went to Chivas USA. Cronin registered nine goals and seven assists in 39 regular season matches for the Dynamo the past four years while Lahoud notched nine goals and 10 assists in 30 games the past three years.

The pair helped guide Carolina to two of its best seasons in recent memory with 14-0-2 and 11-3-2 records in 2006 and 2007, respectively.

Sam Cronin was the top prospect of many that came out of the Dynamo pool
